New Roth IRA book is aimed at helping millennials and Generation Xers save for retirement

New York, NY (PRWEB) June 09, 2016

Adam Bergman, tax attorney and IRA Financial Group partner announces the release of his fourth book on retirement accounts titled, In God We Trust – In Roth We Prosper. How contributing just a few dollars a day to a Roth IRA can help you live large.

Written by author Adam Bergman, Esq., an experienced tax attorney who specializes in IRAs and 401(k)s, this must-read guide lays out everything one needs to know about how retirement accounts work. Whether it's figuring out which one is the best one based on ones personal income circumstances, what to do to get started, or how much money to put away in a retirement account each year.

From a twenty-two-year-old just starting out in the job market to those in their late fifties who are already eyeing the end of their careers, anyone who desires to make sound investment decisions for their future will find great advice and solid answers to their most pressing questions with the Roth IRA book. "I have written this book to help millennials and Generation Xers understand the importance of starting to save for retirement at a young age and how just saving a few dollars in a self-directed Roth IRA can lead to hundreds of thousands of dollars of tax-free funds at retirement," stated Adam Bergman.

According to Mr. Bergman, saving for retirement doesn't have to be scary—and it's certainly never boring! The book's aim is to showcase the power of the Roth IRA and how easy it is to start saving for retirement. The book hopes to show young people that starting young and being consistent is the key to retirement saving. In addition, though examples and case studies, the book will show that one doesn't need to be a high earner to consider saving through a Roth IRA. Even one dollar a day will make a difference.
