New Bitcoin Future Market to Increase Popularity of Cryptocurrencies for Self-Directed IRA Investors, According to IRA Financial Group

Bitcoin futures contract expected to allow retirement account investors using cash to purchase future contracts without margin

NEW YORK (PRWEB) December 11, 2017

IRA Financial Group, the leading provider of self-directed IRA LLC and Solo 401(k) Plans expects that the new Bitcoin futures exchange will increase the popularity for Bitcoins and other cryptocurrencies for all investors, including self-directed IRA and Solo 401(k) plan investors.

The launch of the bitcoin futures by CME Group, one of the largest exchange groups in the world, represents a milestone for the digital currency. Bitcoin has been the best-performing asset in financial markets in 2017 rising approximately 1500%. According to Adam Bergman, partner with the IRA Financial Group, the Bitcoin exchange will allow two parties to exchange Bitcoin at a specified price at an agreed upon date in the future. "Because CME's bitcoin futures will settle in cash, retirement investors will be able to use their IRA or 401(k) funds to purchase future contracts and generate tax-deferred or tax-free returns," stated Adam Bergman.

IRA Financial Group & IRA Financial Trust Company's Crypto IRA platform with checkbook control will allow retirement account holders to buy, sell, or hold Bitcoins and other cryptocurrency assets and generate tax-deferred or tax-free gains, in the case of a Roth IRA. The primary advantage of using a self-directed IRA LLC to make Bitcoin investments is that all income and gains associated with the IRA investment grow tax-deferred or tax-free in the case of a Roth IRA.
